Whether or not the student plans to live on-campus, the financial documentation must show a minimum balance of the amount listed below. The funds must be "liquid" (such as checking or savings), such that the monies could be withdrawn at any time. Business accounts and insurance policies are not sufficient. If the currency is not U.S. dollars (USD), the exchange rate for USD must be listed. Certified scanned copies of bank documents will be accepted at the discretion of the CIE.

For a listing of the current estimated costs of attendance for the current academic year please visit our website at:

Note that these figures are the current estimates. Costs may actually be greater due to inflation and other increases in costs. Financial documentation need only show the minimum amount for Fall and Spring (except for graduate assistantships that cover summer tuition).
