

Master Builders Copyright and Photograph Release form

COPYRIGHT

When commissioning commercial photographs, the Australian Copyright Council states that if photos 'were taken for any other purpose (e.g. commercial shots), the photographer will be the first owner of copyright, unless the photographer and client agree otherwise'.

Master Builders will not reproduce a copyrighted photograph without appropriate authorisation from the photographer or studio. This authorisation may be in the form of a letter, a copy of the contract between the photographer and builder/building owner that states the photographs may be reproduced, or by way of a signed photographer's release form (below).

Please complete the selection below and sign and submit this form as part of your entry.

<Choose one option>

- ☐ I have attached a letter of authorisation from the photographer who owns copyright of these photographs.
- ☐ I have attached a copy of the contract between myself/the client that authorises Master Builders to reproduce copyrighted images.
- ☐ The photographer who owns copyright of these photographs has completed the photographer's release section below.

I have read and agree to all conditions of entry contained in this entry form and confirm the details supplied are correct to the best of my knowledge. I hereby give permission for Queensland Master Builders Association to publish floor plans and photographs (including professional photographs supplied by me or the client) of my entry on Master Builders website, social media, or in any other print or digital publications, and have secured authority from the client, where necessary, to do so.
