Map Your School's Parent – Teacher Contacts

A. Teachers, counselors, or advisors are expected to communicate with families:

- ☐ When there is a problem (1)
- ☐ At parent – teacher conferences (2)
- ☐ At least once a month if the student is struggling (3)
- ☐ At least once a month with every family (4)
- ☐ Other _____

B. School – family communications tend to focus on:

- ☐ Student problems and misbehavior (1)
- ☐ General news about the class (2)
- ☐ Progress in specific problem areas (3)
- ☐ Overall student progress (4)
- ☐ Other _____

C. When do parents and teachers have face-to-face contact (besides parent – teacher conferences)?

- ☐ Some teachers attend PTA meetings and other events for families (1)
- ☐ All teachers attend at least one family-oriented activity each semester (2)
- ☐ Teachers greet families before and after school (3)
- ☐ Teachers routinely meet one-on-one or in small groups with families (4)
- ☐ Other _____

D. How often do teachers send home materials that will help parents work with their children, such as learning kits or interactive homework assignments?

- ☐ Rarely (1)
- ☐ Maybe once a month (2)
- ☐ It varies by teacher (3)
- ☐ Every week (4)
- ☐ Other _____

E. How is student work shared with parents?

- ☐ Our school displays the work of top students only (1)
- ☐ Parents can come to school and see work on the bulletin boards (2)
- ☐ Teachers send home student work about once a month (3)
- ☐ Student work goes home every week; parents and teachers comment on progress (4)
- ☐ Other _____

Add up your score. Give yourself a point of extra credit for each “other” response that moves your school toward open communications with families. The higher the number, the more communications with families are open and trusting. If your score is 10 or below, develop a plan to open up communication with families.

How Family – Friendly is Your School?

Welcoming Environment

Conference Checklist

This checklist was developed by Melissa Whipple, the coordinator of the Parent Academic Liaison (PAL) program in San Diego, as a tool to help teachers prepare for conferences with families.

Before the conference

___ 1. Notify parents and students about:

- Purpose
- Place, time, length of time
- Child care arrangements
- Parent planning sheet (questions to ask)

___ 2. Prepare:

- Review student's folder
- Gather samples of work
- Gather input from students
- Prepare materials
- Think about what to say; avoid "educationese"

___ 3. Plan agenda:

- Draw up a plan for the conference
- Emphasize cooperation – what can both sides do?

___ 4. Arrange environment:

- Place seating away from desk
- Make sure there will be privacy
- See that things look welcoming and comfortable

During the conference

1. Welcome. Establish rapport
2. Set terms. State the purpose, mention any time limits, encourage note taking, and mention options to follow up.
3. Lead with the positive. Share what you see as the child's major strengths and unique qualities.
4. Encourage. Share information ("What do you think your does well?") and invite comments and questions ("Do you have any questions for me?").
5. Show. Point out areas where there has been academic and social growth.
6. Listen. Pause and restate parents' words; look for verbal and nonverbal clues; invite questions.
7. Develop an action plan. Choose one or two areas on which to focus.
8. Summarize. Review the conversation and plan follow-up to check progress on the action plan.
9. End on a positive note. Express confidence in the child's ability to be a successful learner.

After the conference

- ___ 1. Review the conference with the child.
- ___ 2. Share information with other school staff, if needed.
- ___ 3. Put it in writing – send a follow-up note or letter.
- ___ 4. Mark calendar for planned follow-up.

Families

Family Welcome Questionnaire

This questionnaire is designed to help school staff learn more about their students' families. We recommend that the questions below be asked face-to-face, rather than in a written survey. This can be done in several steps and places, such as when students enroll in the school, at the school open house, at parent-teacher conferences, and at parent activities. The family-school coordinator or parent liaison can do this, and community groups can help. (It is important to emphasize that this information will be kept strictly confidential.)

Dear Families:

Our school wants to know more about its families and their rich and interesting cultural heritage. With this information, the Family and Community Involvement Action Team can plan better programs to build on our students' home cultures. We also want to learn more about how families would like to help.

First, tell us about your cultural background:

- What languages are spoken in your home?
- In what country (state) were you born?
- Tell us your family's beliefs about the importance of education.
- What does your family do to help your children learn?
- What are your family's traditions? What activities do you do as a family? How do you celebrate birthdays and other important family events?
- Who is in your extended family (grandparents, aunts and uncles, cousins, close friends)?

Second, tell us how you would like to be involved at home and at school and what would help you be more involved.

- What are some ways you would like to be involved?
- What could the school do to help you be more involved?
- What are your working hours?
- When are the most convenient times for activities and meetings at school?
- What are your transportation needs?
- What are your hobbies, skills, talents, and interests?

Finally, tell us about your concerns, perspectives and ideas.

- What would you like us to know about your child? What are his/her interests?
- What is working well for your child at school? What isn't?
- What are some ways you would like the school to recognize and teach about your child's culture?
- Are there any ways that you feel your culture could be better respected at the school?
- Do you have some things that reflect your culture and background that you could share with us (for example, pictures, weavings, carvings, stories, musical instruments, songs, traditions, naming ceremonies)?
- How could you help the school reach out to other families in your community?

Many questions suggested here appear in Sabrina Hope King and A. Lin Goodwin, Culturally Responsive Parent Involvement (Washington, D.C.: American Association of Colleges of Teacher Education, 2003). For a free copy, go to www.aacte.org/Publications/kinggoodwin.pdf

Homework Survey

This survey was developed by staff at Wyman Elementary School in St. Louis, Missouri, in collaboration with students and faculty in the Education School at St. Louis University. A committee of teachers, the parent coordinator, and administrators used the results to plan activities for families and design learning materials that families can use at home. The following questions were designed to find out several things about what families do at home to support and encourage children's learning.

1. When parents are available to help with homework
2. What children do after school
3. What control and structure parents exercise over homework
4. How aware of homework parents are on a daily basis

Parent Review

This review consists of questions to ask parents about their children's interests and talents, strengths and fears. It also asks parents to provide a personal message about their child, if they wish to. This can be done as an interview, which we recommend, or a survey form. An interview builds the personal relationship and will yield more information. For parents with limited English or formal education, an interview in their home language is a must.

Tell us about your child

Who is your child's best friend?

What does your child like about school?

What are your child's successes in school? What are your child's challenges in school?

Does your child feel liked and accepted at school? If not, why not?

What are some of your child's interests and hobbies?

What does your child feel is his/her greatest talent or skill? Do you agree?

Does your child enjoy reading and being read to?

Does your child enjoy doing math?

What challenges does your child have in math/in reading?

Is there anything you want me to know about your child?

What does your child want to do and be when he/she grows up?

What are some of your child's favorite activities?

Follow-up

How should we stay in touch about how your child is doing?

Please let me know how to contact you:

Here is my contact information:

Final Question

Please tell me about your hopes and dreams for your child this year.
(Please write here, or contact me.)

(Note to teacher: When you ask this final question, be quiet and really listen. Then paraphrase what the parent has said, to make sure you understand each other. Some of the other questions could be used during any silences. The point is to provide parents ways of offering information that would be of help to the teacher, as well to create a positive way to focus on the child.)

This review was developed with the advice from Melissa Whipple, the director of the Parent Academic Liaison program in San Diego.

The Power of Partnerships Family Survey

Dear Families,

The best way to make sure every student in our school succeeds is to build a strong partnership between families, the school, and the community. The survey below gives you the opportunity to tell us what our school is doing well to support this partnership and what we can do better.

If you would like to help tally and analyze the results, please let us know.
